Job description

EIPIN Innovation Society is a comprehensive project at the forefront of multidisciplinary research, examining the role of intellectual property (IP) as a complex adaptive system in innovation. The ambition is to enhance Europe's capacity to foster innovation-based sustainable economic growth globally. The primary research objective of the programme is to provide political leaders and stakeholders reliable conclusions and recommendations in the form of doctoral IP research on how to deal with the adaptive complexities of innovation cycles that secure economic benefits and uphold justice in the innovation society.

Fifteen Early-Stage Researchers (ESRs) are trained to present their research findings on a number of topics of great societal interest, and to guide inventors and entrepreneurs through the lifecycle of IP-intensive assets that takes human creativity into the marketplace. The research and training programme provides for an unprecedented environment for ESRs that aims at educating a new generation of professionals and academic researchers who are properly equipped to face these challenges of fostering innovation-based growth. It consists of a research and a training part, which are closely connected and mutually inform each other.

The involvement of industry associations representing numerous undertakings provides great access to non-academic actors. The ESR positions are open to candidates from all domains of sciences, providing a solid foundation for cross-cutting research in the area of innovation policies, while overcoming a traditional separation of disciplines.

The EIPIN Innovation programme, coordinated by Maastricht University, is a Marie Skłodowska-Curie Innovative Training Network project, funded by the European Union. This project sets up a European Joint Doctorate programme which will lead to the conferral of joint and double doctoral degrees from two of the five participating universities. These Universities are:

- Queen Mary Intellectual Property Research Institute, Queen Mary University of London (QMUL)
- Magister Lvcentinvs, University of Alicante (UA)
- Intellectual Property Law and Knowledge Management (IPKM), Maastricht University
- Centre for International Intellectual Property Studies (CEIPI), University of Strasbourg
- Munich Intellectual Property Law Center (MIPLC), University of Augsburg

In total, 15 PhD projects are part of the programme, each investigating different, as yet under-explored aspects of the adaptive complexities of innovation cycles. For more information, see <http://www.eipin-innovationsociety.org/>

In the framework of the Marie Skłodowska-Curie ITN/EJD project EIPIN Innovation Society, QUEEN MARY UNIVERSITY OF LONDON is recruiting a PhD researcher for a period of three years.

The research project concerns: ESR 13 – Decision making institutions

Supervisor 1: Prof. Guido Westkamp (QMUL);

Supervisor 2: Prof. Christophe Geiger (University of Strasbourg/CEIPI)

Co-supervisor: J. Lapousterle (University of Strasbourg/CEIPI)

Project Description:

The project should assess the role of diverse decision-making institutions within the creative process and subsequent innovative business models, and how these influence are influenced by diverse decision making bodies. It should identify processes and divergences in decision-making such as by way of Directives or Regulations, and critically analyse how institutions such as domestic courts, the Court of Justice for the European Union, or the European Court of Human Rights interpret harmonized norms and how they differ, if at all, in recognising divergent principles that inform decision making, such as the primary aims of the EU or human rights. The project should produce a clear and practically relevant picture of the use of principles and doctrines, as well as clarifying legal methodologies with a view to identifying, in detail, divergences and should identify measures to assist better harmonisation by way of secondary legislation.
